SUPERINTENDENT'S CORNER

Spring time is here at Colony Creek, and the course is happy it has arrived. The grass is as green as St. Patrick's Day after the healthy dose of rain we got to start off March. Our area desperately needed it after such a dry winter. Activity around the course is picking up as the spring tournament season gets into full swing. We've hosted several high school events and some outside tournaments, and it's only going to get busier in April! We will host a few more high school events and several outside tournaments as well. We are excited for multiple opportunities to showcase the course as we reach our growing season and get the golf course into prime playing condition. Our springtime pre-emergent applications have been going well, and we will continue applying them as we prepare for the transition to summer time. The fight against poa is one of our toughest battles. Although it remains irritating, I feel like we have improved our conditions over the past 2 years and will keep making steps toward eradication. The goosegrass will be here before we know it and preparing for that will be a big part of our application plan this next month. Our irrigation work has gone quite well, and we have made some great progress on leaks around the course. As the weather gets hotter, we are increasing our irrigation usage on the course. With our old system, we do find the occasional stuck irrigation head running in the mornings. This takes priority and will slow down our work on existing leaks. It helps us find outdated parts and lets us update to new, longer-lasting irrigation parts. The crew and I are excited for the challenges this time of year brings, and we look forward to giving our golfers the best golf course possible!
