SUPERINTENDENT'S CORNER

June was a very busy month for the course maintenance department. The abnormal rainy weather was truly a blessing but has definitely led to the mowers going nonstop. The crew is working hard to stay ahead of the overgrowth especially in areas around the course that are slow to dry up. Bunkers have also been an ongoing battle with the added moisture and poor drainage. But on the bright side, take advantage of the free relief from a wet bunker. Irrigation work has continued around the course with multiple fairway leaks being repaired as well as sprinkler heads around greens being replaced. We have really been focusing on greens maintenance with the application of a granular treatment to help combat the crab and goose grass that is being seen due to missed crucial pre-emergent applications in the spring. We are seeing great results from our verticutting schedule of the greens and will continue with this process. We are also implementing a new treatment to start the process of eliminating the abundance of carpet grass on the course.

“The strategy of the golf course is the soul of the game”.
